

WHERE IS THE MOTHER
with a child who is rundown, has pale cheeks or thin blood, who will hesitate to give that child the very thing it needs to start it growing and keep it going?
For over forty years the concentrated liquid-food in Scott's Emulsion has been changing thinness to plumpness—changing poor blood to rich blood.
There is nothing better for growing children—whether they are weak or well—than Scott's Emulsion, but see that you get the genuine Scott's.

MYSTERIOUS MAN WITH GUN GUARDS WAILUKU ROAD

Has Badge and Stops all Trespassers But the Reason is Kept Dark Secret

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Maui, Aug. 17.—If you have been started during the past week by having a man hold you up at the point of a gun as you drove placidly along the pali road, between Wailuku and Lahaina, you have but experienced what hundreds of others have. It isn't a highway robbery—it's simply a mystery.

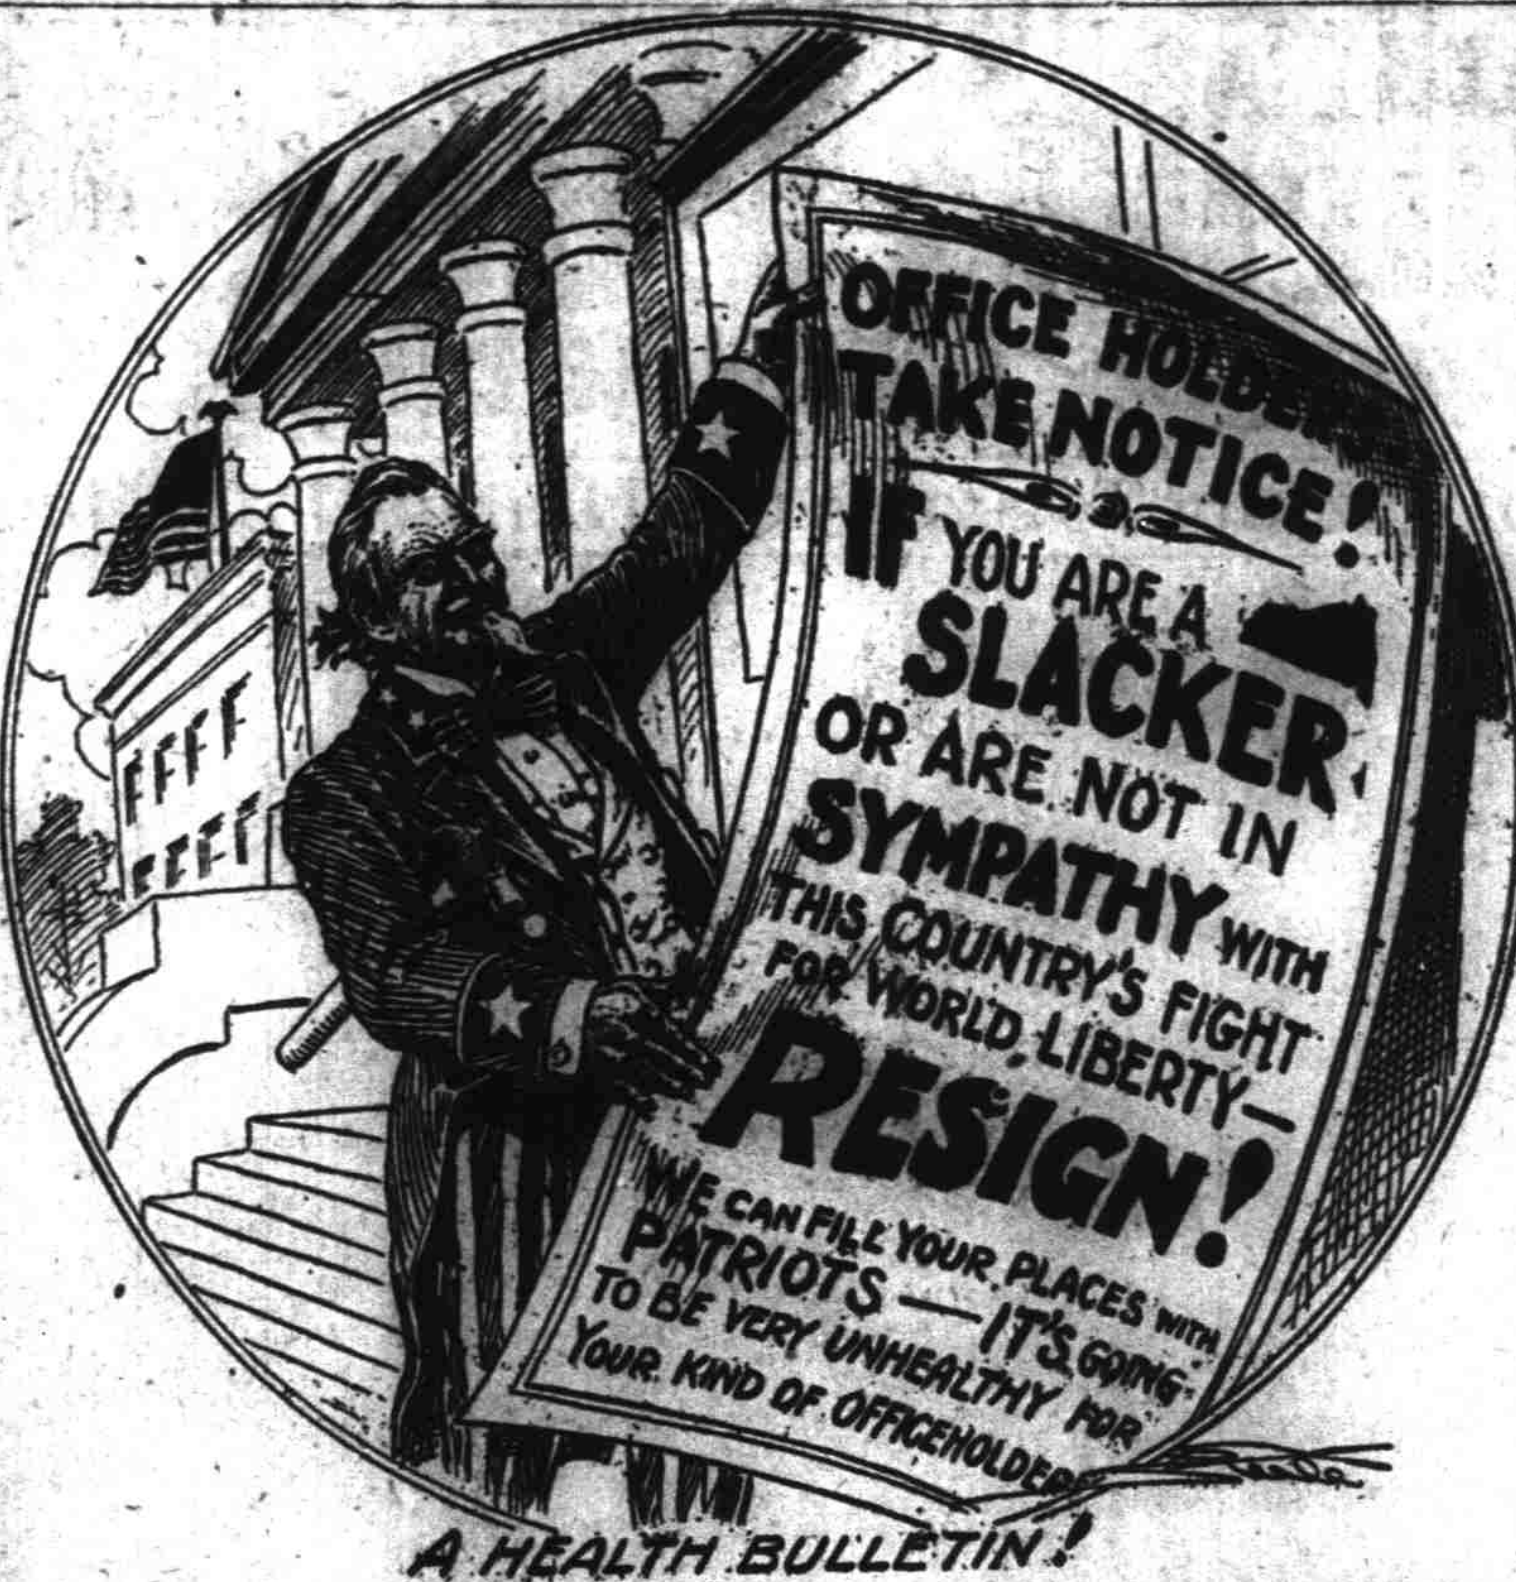

Even Sheriff Clem Crowell and County Attorney Bevin claim to be in the dark on the matter, notwithstanding the fact that the board of supervisors gave permission for the gate to be put across the road, and the sheriff is supplying a policeman to help the inquisitive stranger to perform his task. The granting of the permission by the supervisors does not even appear on record on the minutes of the body.

The man with the gun is Richard Aylward. He is between 50 and 60 years of age, apparently, in civilian dress, and the Honolulu directory says he has an office at 174 South King street. But it fails to give his business. He has some kind of a badge, it is said, which he shows when his authority is questioned.

The man has a couple of army tents which he has pitched in a little gulley beside the road, near the 7th mile post. The gate he has erected across the road insures that all automobiles or other vehicles must stop, and when they have stopped a general inquisition is instituted, the purpose of which seems to be far from clear. Those who are known to the policeman who assists in the work are allowed to pass with little ceremony. Others are given the third degree as to their business, etc.

All kinds of guesses are being indulged in to explain the unusual procedure, the most popular being that the inspector expects to catch a German anarchist plotter.

BRITISH RAILROAD STRIKE SOON SQUELCHED

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 20.—Prompt and drastic action was taken by the government yesterday when, to prevent a threatened strike of 40,000 railroad operatives, it invoked the operation of the munitions of war act which was passed in 1915. Under this law are prohibited and made punishable any acts which would interfere with the manufacture or transportation of munitions of war and under the latter provision it is held applicable to the present situation.

ISLANDS SEND LITTLE PRODUCE TO CITY MARKET

Very little produce is coming in from the other islands to the Honolulu market at the present due to the dry weather and the sale of the spring crops earlier in the season. The best of the island potatoes have been sold and the producers are advised to ship to Honolulu only sound tubers as the trade will not buy culls at any price. The losses from the potato moth borer this year have been greater than ever before and unless farmers take every precaution to control this pest as well as the blight, island potatoes will soon have a reputation that it will take many seasons to overcome. No producer should plant a potato from now on until he has got the advice of the county agent in his district. By using the precautions he will suggest, the losses can be reduced to a minimum.

The consignments of Maui Red beans are moving slowly at $9 and a better crop may be expected. Small whites are selling a little better at 15. Bermuda onions from Kauai are coming on the market in large quantities now. Some of these are very large and in a good condition. They are mostly of the crystal wax variety.

It is claimed that the grape producers can net more by selling their grapes in Hilo than by sending them to Honolulu, so it is doubtful if any more will come to this market.

Live hogs have advanced to 19 cents a pound for the best grade. This is a record price. No changes in beef and veal.

The price of island eggs remains at 50 cents, but scratch fowl has advanced $2 a ton. California storage eggs are selling at 42½ cents by the case. There is no island butter in the market.

EXPERIMENT ON BEANS TO PLANT IN MANOA VALLEY

The U. S. Experiment Station and George K. Harrison have been conducting a cooperative experiment to determine the best varieties of beans for planting in Manoa valley. Although these experiments have not yet been concluded, sufficient data is now in hand so that it is possible to recommend certain varieties with confidence.

For use as dry beans, the Maui red, Maui calico, red kidney and speckled kidney have proved to be very excellent sorts and have given good yields. For green snap beans, the stringless green pod has given most satisfactory results, yielding heavily of tender, crisp pods for use both as green beans and for salads. The Kentucky wonder, although not grown in these particular experiments, has given under similar conditions good yields and the beans are of good quality. This is a climbing variety, however, and requires poles or some other support, while the stringless green pod grows as a bush variety.

For a yellow or wax bean to be eaten in the pod before fully mature, as is also the case with green beans, no better variety has been found than the golden wax. This is of heavy yield and of very fine appearance as well as tender and of superior flavor.

A cowpea of the variety known as the black eye was planted beside the varieties of beans. Some of the cowpeas are much used dry in the same manner as dried beans are used. This variety, however, has proved to be a complete failure under existing conditions because of its being attacked by the melon fly. James Cowan of the experiment station has been noting the progress of these beans and reports that a very high percentage of the pods are infested with larvae of the melon fly. This variety therefore cannot be recommended.

CASTLE WRITES OF U-BOAT ATTACKS

A personal account of an attack of a German submarine on the ship by which he was traveling to France and later the witnessing of an air raid on London is told by W. R. Castle, Jr., in a letter to his father, W. R. Castle. The letter was written in the public gardens of Bordeaux on the evening of his arrival there.

The submarine attack occurred two days out from Bordeaux. Mr. Castle was standing at his cabin door talking with an American officer when the ship's gun boomed and looking to port he discerned a periscope. Four more shots were fired and the last appeared to find its mark. Castle grabbed a life belt and rushed out on deck, but he says there was little excitement on board. The torpedo fired by the submarine passed within thirty feet of the steamer.

On his visit to London a large fleet of German aircraft attacked the city and he saw the British fleet go up and chase them off.

Mr. Castle writes that the general feeling in France is one of exhaustion and his letter appeals to the American people not only to send armies, but also money for the families of men at the front.
